Elk River's T-Line Safety System is an innovative solution which combines the uses of a Self-Retracting Lifeline and a horizontal lifeline system into a continuous loop to easily track the movements of the user. The design uses two separate retracting spools to maintain tension while a worker moves both vertically and horizontally while at-height. pg 62 ▶

A new contender has entered the Cable Safety Sleeve arena. Skylootec's Claw Vertical Fall Arrest Sleeve is designed to travel smoothly while ascending AND descending all common vertical cable climb systems. Skylootec designed this cable grab with the user in mind, eliminating many of the complaints of other grabs snagging while climbing down the tower at the end of the day. pg 97 ▶

We've taken end-user feedback to entirely redesign our popular GME Supply Gear Bags from the ground up. Our popular gear bags are now more accessible, versatile, and cost effective. pg 140 ▶

This Dax Carbon Fiber Safety Helmet has been one of the more popular hard hats to hit the market. Lift Safety has taken their experience in motocross and powersports into the industrial safety arena to make a helmet that's ANSI and OSHA compliant, and looks incredible. pg 148 ▶

Ty-Flot has the most innovative tool tethering options available. Their Quick-Switch system uses a one-of-a-kind latching mechanism for seamless transition of tools from the bolt bag to your hand, and can even maintain 100% tie-off while passing tools to others in your crew. pg 211 ▶
